Several of our cotemporaries are so unmannerly as to treat with ill-concealed derision the recent extraordinary efforts of our estimable cotemporary, the Cincinnati Commercial, to achieve notoriety. The late interesting exhibition of the intestine arrangements of that concern: the manifesto in which was celebrated the miraculous speed and exactness with which the "midnight edition" was prepared to be-in many cases-just a moment too late for the trains that were supposed to be laden with its treasures, has awakened not a little left-handed admiration in several quarters. Our neighbor is-we are constrained to admit it-palpably afflicted with an itch to do something desperate in the way of newspaper enterprise; and, on the occasion of several trials, has, in the opinion of many, made prominent exhibition of that which it was thought he would be naturally most desirous to conceal.

We interpose a plea in behalf of our cotemporary. He is trying an important experiment in the art of newspaper making-a new and original plan never before discovered; but which, if successful, will produce revolutions in the trade of the most interesting character. His re- news-over the lines, thus having them inserted cipe for creating a public journal is evidently copied from that of the Irishman for founding a cannon: "Take a hole and pour brass around it." This readily accounts for all the accompanying phenomena. The superhuman dullness and uneasy fatuity of the concern, instead of appearing accidental, are seen to be real elements of its character. They belong to it-as necessary to its complement-in the same sense that a bobtail is a true appendix to a bull-terrier, and ears of portentous longitude are symmetry, when employed to add dignity to the countenance of a donkey.

It is reported that the Commercial is to be enlarged-that, in fact, the enlargement is to make its appearance to-day. We shall, doubtless, have some further information in respect to the estimate which the managers of that concern put upon themselves in this morning's issueperhaps another "time table." If there could be one devised to show the progress of an idea-if such a thing is admissible-from its first faint dawnings in the counting-room, until it is overlayed and smothered in the editorial columns, it would be both amusing and instructive. In the mean time we condole with our fellow-citizens in their misfortune of having some additional square of inches of dullness daily added to our periodical literature-a thing of which there is greatly too much already.

Sunday Newspapers.

The leader of the yesterday's Enquirer is intended as an argument in favor of Sunday newspapers. It is an exceedingly poor vindication of a practice of which no one has any just right to complain. A good Sunday newspaper is a good thing; and such an one in this city would be a real acquisition. It is a pity that the Enquirer is not of the right kind; but it is not. It is usually crammed full of the details of murder, rape, robbery, and CRIM. CON. cases; and yesterday six columns were devoted to a history disgustingly minute of the persons, crimes, trials, cells, gallowses and executions of several murderers in Baltimore. To crowd out this trash, something better is needed. A Police Gazette is not a proper thing for Sunday or any other day reading.

MARRIED .- On Wednesday last, in the hall of the House of Representatives of Ohio, in the presence of the two Houses of the Legislature and a large and promiscuous crowd of spectators, the Democratic party of Ohio, and the interesting E. S. Hamlin, formerly of the Public Works.— O. S. Journal.

AMUSEMENTS.

NATIONAL THEATER. - Notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather Saturday evening, the National was well attended the attraction being the last appearance of Mrs. Sinclair and Mr. Sedley in the new and beautiful play of Extremes Meet. The piece was admirably performed, each character being enacted with spirit and judiciousness. Mr. Sedley, as "Frank Hawthorne," proved himself possessed of more than ordinary ability; while Mrs. Sinclair, as "Lucy Vavasour," did not deteriorate the high reputation as an actress she has hitherto borne. Messrs. Mortimer, Rainford and M. W. Leffingwell were as fait. We were surprised to see this latter gentleman enact the minutia of young 'Wildbriar" so perfectly, as we thought it entirely out of his role; but, place him where you will, he is sure to make a favorable impression. Mrs. Wilkins and Mrs. Jones played well, as did all the company. On Monday evening the Dramatic Equestrian Troupe of M'lle Louise Wells makes its first appearance in this city on the boards of the National. Judging from the reputation they have heralded, the performances of this troupe will prove interesting.

WOOD'S THEATER .- The far-famed Buckleys Ethiopian and Burlesque Opera Troupe closed their engagement at this establishment last Saturday evening. During their engagement they drew large audiences, and contributed greatly to the amusement of all who witnessed their performances.

The regular dramatic company appear this evening, in Sheridan's comedy of The Rivale. Mr. Ellsler as "Sir Anthony Absolute," and Mrs. Ellsler as "Lydia Languish." To conclude with the laughable farce of A Conjugal Leason, in which Mr. Sydney Smith will appear.

THE OPERA,-The first presentation of Meyerbeer's famous opera Roberto il Diavolo, on Saturday evening, notwithstanding the unfavorable weather, was attended by at least three thousand of the beauty and fashion of the city. The sublimity of this master-work of romance was complete, as was evidenced by the frequent and continued outbursts of applause during the entertainment. The contrast between the "classical" "Don Giovanni" and "emotional" "Roberto" is striking, and these two immense creations of brilliant compositions will always be attractive to the musical world; hence their frequent repetition in all cities to crowded

The cast of Roberto on Saturday evening was very strong. The "Alice," "Roberto's" sister, by Mad. Colson, was the prettiest exhibition of sentimental acting and vocal proficiency that we have ever heard. M'me Wilhorst as the Princess "Isabella" was enthusiastically encored, for she was perfect throughout. Brignoli as"Roberto," his first time in that character, was a great triumph for this polished artiste, In the trio with "Alice," "Bertram" and "Roberto," he was particularly happy, receiving at its close the most enthusiastic and genuine applause that has been given since the Opera House has been opened. The instrumentation, under the lead of Strakosch, was inimitable and powerful.

This evening, Mr. Strakosch will have a benefit, and we trust that it may be, pecuniarily, the fullest house of the season. Diavolo will be presented for the second time. To those who have not yet witnessed Roberto, we earnestly urge that they attend to-night.

IMPOSITION BY TELEGRAPH .- D. H. Craig, agent of the Associated Press in New York City, is said to have amassed a fortune of upward of $100,000 in his ten or twelve years' esidence in the metropolis. He has acquired this by sending advertisements—as items of papers free of cost.—Exchange Paper.

Mr. Craig is a gentleman (?)-very much of gentleman (?) Any man who can make one hundred thousand dollars out of the quickwitted, wise, intelligent, smart newspaper men of this country, should and will pass as a gentleman. Surely, both fortune and fame belong to D. H. Craig, Esq.

Mr. Craig, a few months ago, made ten thousand dollars-"quick as lightning"-by telegraphing over the country Tiffany, Young & Co's, great Atlantic Cable speculation advertisements—as items of news. Now, Mr. Craig is not the only man at fault. Newspaper men are reprehensible for allowing telegraph matter to be taken directly from the telegraphic to that of the printers' rooms. The eye of the editor, or his assistants, should scrutinize well every article, telegraphic and otherwise, before t passes into the typo's hand. This would oftentimes save not only composition, but IMPO-SITION.

HERR MOLLENHAUEN'S VIOLONCELLO AT THE OPERA.—The performance of this great artist upon his favorite instrument, during the celeupon his favorite instrument, during the cele-brated Incantation Scene, in Roberto il Diavolo, on Saturday night, was a masterly effort, and the subject of general admiration and applause among that vast addience. It alone was well worth the price of admission. We know of no higher compliment we can pay this favorite artist, than that we believe it to be the sentiment of all, that upon him should descend the mantle of our old favorite, the lamented Herr Knoop, whose memory is still cherished by all his old musical friends and admirers. S. L. H.

DISASTROUS FIRES IN NEW ORLEANS .- Since the 6th inst., property to the amount of over a million and a half dollars has been destroyed by fire in the Crescent City. We would recommend the authorities of that city to order two or three of the Cincinnati steam fire-engines. Our mechanics are turning out some very superior and much-improved machines, and will be pleased to fill an order from their Southern friends.

THE Oddfellows of Hillsboro' are making extensive preparations to celebrate on the 26th inst. the anniversary of the introduction of Oddfellowship into the United States. They invite the brothren throughout the State to participate with them. Rev. G. C. Crum, formerly pastor of Wesley Chapel, in this city, has been selected as orator for the occasion.

THE Xenia News says: "Prof. Vaughan, the Cincinnati savan, has been lecturing in Waynesville, and seems, from a card in the Visitor, to have excited general admiration. Prof. V. is a good man, a pure, unselfish, high-minded scholar, and deserves to be better appreciated than he is, even yet."

PROF. O. M. MITCHELL, of this city, comnences, to-night, a course of five lectures at Pittsburg, Pa. No man, either in Europe or America, in the same length of time, over lectured to so many people on scientific subjects as did Prof. Mitchell in his late visit East.

THE ALLEGHARY BANK FORGERY .- The par-THE ALLEGHARY BANK FORGERY.—The particulars of this sharp swindling affair we abridge from the Evening Chronicle. It appears that, some few days since, a man who gave his name as W. C. Williams, made his appearance in the village of New Philadelphia, Ohio, and represented himself as a capitalist, in search of a location in which to conveniently embry the particular contraction of the convenience of the conven ently embark in mercantile pursuit. He soon made the acquaintance of a merchant named Hull, doing business in the village, and, after some negotiating, it was agreed that Hull should take him into partnership, the agreement to go into effect at once. Mr. Williams informed Mr. Hull that he held two drafts on the Union Bank of New York for $2,000 each, and that he must have them cashed before their agreement could be perfected. Mr. H. replied that as he was about visiting Pittsburg to purchase goods, he could accompany him and have them cashed in that city.

Accordingly they started for Pittsburg, which they reached on Friday, and put up at the St. Charles Hotel. During the day, Mr. Hull introduced Williams as his partner to several merchants, and among others to a party doing business on Wood street, whose name it is unnecessary here to make public. Here he stated that he held a draft on the Union Bank of New York, which he would like to have cashed, and then carelessly inquired of the gentleman if he knew where he could be accommodated. The gentleman introduced him to the Alleghany Bank, and here he had his draft converted into cash in the presence of the merchant who gave him the introduction and Mr. Hull. Subsequently the parties visited Hanna, Hart & Co.'s, where he exchanged the par funds received at the Bank for currency, and here his financier-Some two hours later, Mr. Hull took his partner to Coleman, Hailman & Co.'s new ware-house, on Water street, and while engaged in examining the different departments of this ex-tensive establishment, Williams suddenly recollected that he had an appointment with a friend at the Girard House, at four o'clock, and as it was nearly that hour, he would be com-pelled to absent himself for a few moments The explanation satisfied Mr. Hull, and Williams then started to meet his friend. Instead of going to the Girard House, however, the fellow called at the St. Charles, and directed the clerk to inform Mr. H., when he returned that he would not be back till ten o'clock, and that he desired him to leave the door of his apartment unlocked, that he might enter without annoying him. He then left the hotel, and was not seen afterward. Williams is about five feet nine or ten inches in hight, with light hair, slim build and an effeminate appearance. He wears a ring on the fourth finger of his left hand, and dresses rather genteelly. He states that he is a native of Utica, N. Y., and that his father lives in that

A Tale or Tails .- We see from some of our exchanges there is a new mode upon the Bal-timore and Ohio Railroad of ticketing passengers. The company at this time are carrying over the road a large number of hogs, for the safe delivery of which the conductors are held responsible. The conductor at the depot where the hogs are received on board the cars cuts off each hog's tail, and carefully keeps them until he arrives at the place of destination, where the agent comes out, and, as each hog makes his exit, halloos out "hog," in answer to which the conductor says "tail," and, of course, if the number of hogs and tails correspond, it is all right. It is certainly a convenient plan.—

Tailoring-Messrs. Sprague & Co.-Our friends at No. 10 East Fourth street-the Messrs. Sprague & Co.-have caught the mania for fine buildings, and to use the current maxim, seem resolved "to keep up with the times." We have it on good authority-that of Mr. SPRAGUE himself, than whom there can be no more authentic informant-that he has taken the basement and first and second floors of that fine building now being erected by Mr. W. K. Nixon at the south-east corner of Fourth and Vine streets-where he intends to carry on the wholesale and retail Clothing business with renewed vigor, but yet on the same principle which has characterized his mode of doing business hitherto, namely-to sell every article at its true value-asking no more and taking no less.

The front elevation-facing the building of the Gazette Company-is to be of iron, and the windows are to be constructed on the model of those in Carlisle Building. This structure will measure 30 feet in front (on Fourth street) by 1271/2 feet on Vine street, directly opposite the

All the arrangements of those portions rented by the Messrs. SPRAGUL & Co. for carrying out, in the most orderly and effective manner, the details of the Tailoring and Clothing business, are parts of the plan upon which the entire structure is to be built : so that the adaptation of the building for Messrs. SPRAGUE & Co.'s purposes is not to be an after consideration, but will be "ready to their hand" as soon as the builder turns the key in the lock of the street-door, saying, "the job is completed."

SPRAGUE & Co. will, no doubt, receive the congratulations of their friends for having secured such a prominent situation for their future operation in broadcloth and shears, cassimeres and thimbles, vestings and needles, and

It is true the rent will be something more than what they have had to pay at No. 10 East Fourth; but then, an addition of a hundred or a hundred and fifty dollars in the shape of rent, is of no great account, should their trade be increased by removing to a more eligible though more expensive situation. The "Press" is confident that success awaits Mr. SPRAGUE-for he asserts that he has not only got a trade sufficiently large to justify, nay to compel, him to remove to a more commodious building, but he feels sure of adding materially to it by the change he is about to make-in short, his calculation is that he will double the amount of his present sales.

The plan of doing business by this firm is to mark in plain figures the price of every article at cash prices; and not to allow any salesman to deviate from those prices, except in bills of $50 and over, when a discount of five percent. will be allowed. Clothing "out of style," they say, will be sold without regard to cost. SPRAGUE & Co., we understand, will remove about the 1st of August.

SOMETHING NEW.—PROP. G.W.WIL COX, a graduate of Dr. Chamberlin's, is now introducing his system of Electropathic Treatment, for the cure of long-standing Nervous and Chronic discuses. This system of treatment is not based upon chance or experiment, but is reduced to an absolute certainty, and obstinate diseases are frequently cured by a single application. The good effects resulting are not only wonderful in Paralysis, Rheumatism, and other kindred diseases, as is generally conceded, but it effectually controls all mahalies, either acute or chronic, and never fails to effect a speedy and permanent cure in all reasonable cases. The great vitalizing agent, ELECTHICITY, will speedily and permanently cure the following diseases, viz. Pulmonary Consumption, early and middle stages; Torpid Liver, Dyspepsin, Diabetis, Rheumatism, Brain Diseases, Seminal Weskness, Catarri, Dosiness, Amaurosis, Seminal Weskness, Catarri, Dosiness, Amaurosis, Seminal Weskness, Files, Diseases incident to females, Asthma, Broachitis, general dorangement of the Nervous System, Stiff Joints, Contracted Muscles, Chronic and Nervous Complaints generally. CINCINNATI, February 13, 1859.

About a month ago I called at Dr. Ayer's "Throat and Lung Institute," 39 West Fourth street, for treatment for Tonsilitis and Chronic Inflammation of the Throat. The tonsils and uvula (or pulate) were so much enlarged that there seemed to be but one course to pursue, and that was to cut them off; this I had been told by other physicians, who had also candidly told me they could not cure me. Dr. Ayer made a careful examination and pronounced excision unnecessary, and prescribed Medicated Inhisation and topical applications, with general treatment, and the results is a prairier trainment. I now have no soroness or difficulty whatever of the throat, and TREL TRAY I AM NOW PRINTETELY WELL.

I confidence, His mode of treatments rational, pleasant, and certainly in my case successful, and I have every reason to believe the Dector is equally successful in all other cases while I have been under treatment at the Institute.
